Adam is an experienced litigator, both in class action and other complex litigation in federal and state courts throughout the country, and in arbitration matters as well. Adam has litigated a wide variety of cases from inception through settlement and trial, including product liability, consumer protection, False Claims Act, Employee Retirement Income Security Act, securities, and other statutory claims. He has represented individuals, small and large businesses, and public entities who have been harmed by others' unscrupulous business practices.

Prior to joining DiCello Levitt, Adam served as a judicial extern to a federal judge in the Northern District of Illinois and a federal magistrate judge in the Eastern District of Wisconsin. He previously represented both large and small businesses at litigation and class action firms in Chicago.

Adam has demonstrated a commitment to serving underrepresented communities, volunteering as a mentor for high school students at the Legal Prep Charter Academy, a free, open-enrollment public high school in the West Garfield Park neighborhood of Chicago. He is a graduate of Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he was a Burke Scholar, and The University of Texas School of Law where he earned National Order of the Barristers distinction.
